

Trowel assembly line

Written by emmeci

Friday, 22 August 2008 23:52 - Last Updated Thursday, 18 September 2014 12:57

---

This video shows how a semi-automatic trowel assembly line works.

The operator puts the trowel supports on the infeed belt manually, which conveys them to the gluing section, where they are coupled with the sponges taken from the magazine. The use of a special hot adhesive guarantees resistant gluing, free from toxic emissions and with shorter adhesion time.

Download (10,7 MB)